

Scenario 1

My child doesn't studies after coming from school. I have to push him for the same. Though on the other side he spends enough time watching his favorite Cartoons.

Answer:

As he sees his favorite Cartoon that is because of interest he has in the cartoons and not the text books. If these cartoon starts teaching then he will definitely spend the time on studies and develop an interest in studies too. This will help him in the future years.

Scenario 2

My child is sincere about his education. He performs good in other subjects but finds it difficult to cope up with Math's & Science. Even in school exams his overall performance is affected only because of these two subjects.

Answer:

Math's and Science are the subjects where you need to have a conceptual knowledge of the concept, if the child is facing issue in Math's and science that is because of application he is not able to do or conceptual part. Because there are progressive subjects.

Scenario 3

He is an average performer. But the general feedback over the past few years from his teachers is that he does silly mistakes. He has the potential to do well, just that he is not that focused when it comes to studies.

Answer:

Concentration is directly related to the interest of the child, if he has no interest in the subject then he will lose the concentration. And it will lead to lack of understanding of concepts and will start learning the methods and theorems.

Scenario 4

I cannot give him personal attention and hence got him admitted to the best tuition center in the city. The results have been good so far. I don't need anything new as of now as it will create more confusion.

Answer:

That's great you have admitted him to best center in the city. But is he understanding the method, because you don't have an eye on him. So, it will be better that is you get the best education at home, and you can also look after him whether he is performing well or not in tests.

Scenario 5

I teach my child on my own and there are times when even I don't have answers to his questions. He is an intelligent kid and generally asks a lot of questions. Unfortunately at this time with the limited resources I have I am not able to always give him the answer.

Answer:

It is quite normal if you don't have an answer to his/her question. Because in our times the quality of education was not the same as it is today. In this era of technology and competition child need a conceptual understanding of the topic to stand out in the crowd.

We have a doubt session for your child if he wants to ask any question just contact the mentor and a schedule is given, teachers are highly qualified so your child gets an answer of every question in his mind and get conceptual learning of the concept.
